The Science Behind the Match

Dr. Whitfield has spent years studying the science of attraction and compatibility, and she has developed an innovative algorithm that analyzes your personality, preferences, and past dating experiences to create a personalized dating plan.

Her approach is based on the following principles:

- Personality fit: Compatibility is key, and Dr. Whitfield's algorithm matches you with individuals who share your values, interests, and goals.
- Data-driven insights: By analyzing your past dates, the algorithm identifies patterns and areas for improvement, helping you avoid the same mistakes repeatedly.
- Three's the charm: Dr. Whitfield recommends going on three blind dates with each potential match to give you a well-rounded impression and make an informed decision.

The Three-Step Dating Plan

"Three Blind Dates" provides a step-by-step guide to help you implement Dr. Whitfield's algorithm in your own dating life. The plan includes:

1. Complete the personality questionnaire: Answer a series of questions about your interests, values, and dating experiences to create your personalized dating profile.
2. Receive your matches: The algorithm will generate a list of potential matches ranked based on compatibility.
3. Go on three blind dates: Arrange the dates and focus on getting to know each person deeply to assess compatibility.

Proven Results

The effectiveness of Dr. Whitfield's approach has been tested and proven in multiple studies. Participants who followed the Three Blind Dates plan experienced:

- Increased compatibility with their matches
- Fewer wasted dates
- Higher relationship satisfaction
