In Lindsay Price's delightful and engaging novel, "Much Ado High School," Shakespeare's classic play is given a modern makeover, set in a contemporary high school. The novel follows Beatrice and Benedick, two witty and strong-willed students who initially clash but eventually fall in love.

Beatrice is a bright and independent young woman who is not afraid to speak her mind. Benedick is a charming and popular jock who is used to getting his own way. When they are forced to work together on a school project, they initially butt heads. However, as they spend more time together, they begin to see each other in a new light.

As Beatrice and Benedick's relationship develops, they must overcome a number of obstacles, including the disapproval of their friends and family.

However, their love for each other is strong, and they eventually find a way to be together.

"Much Ado High School" is a funny, romantic, and heartwarming story that will appeal to readers of all ages. Lindsay Price has done a wonderful job of adapting Shakespeare's classic play for a modern audience. The characters are relatable and engaging, and the story is both entertaining and thought-provoking.

If you are a fan of Shakespeare, young adult fiction, or romantic comedies, then you will definitely want to check out "Much Ado High School." It is a delightful and engaging read that you will not soon forget.
