

Stories of Parenting a Child with Dyslexia and Navigating School District 12

Dyslexia is a learning disability that affects reading, writing, and spelling. It is a common disorder, affecting approximately 5-10% of the population. Dyslexia can make it difficult for children to learn to read and write, and they may also struggle with other academic areas, such as math and science.

Parenting a child with dyslexia can be challenging. Parents may feel frustrated and overwhelmed as they try to help their child learn and succeed in school. They may also worry about their child's future and how they will cope with the challenges of dyslexia.
